Pioneer Technology Group partners with GreenFolders to bring homeowners secure paperless delivery of closing documents

February 4, 2013 – Pioneer Technology Group (Pioneer), developers of YourDox online home buyer document delivery and archiving system, announced today a partnership and integration with GreenFolders electronic office management system.

In recent years, the real estate industry has made significant advancements in moving to an electronic, paperless closing process. Yet a sizable gap still exists in how these advancements have impacted industry professionals versus the home buying public. While pre-closing work can be handled electronically, the home buyer frequently leaves the closing with a folder full of paper documents containing sensitive personal information that can be easily lost or misplaced.

With this partnership, Pioneer Technology Group and GreenFolders bring to market a solution that bridges this gap. Title and escrow companies processing their transactions electronically via GreenFolders are now able to automatically deliver secure, electronic closing documents to their clients. This integrated solution greatly reduces the expense and potential risks associated with handling and storing paper closing documents. The platform also provides homeowners with ongoing document storage, strengthening the long term relationship between the consumer, the title agent, and the real estate team.

“GreenFolders is committed to improving the closing process by eliminating the use of paper. Through our partnership with Pioneer Technologies we are further advancing this commitment” stated Mike Kirby of GreenFolders. “With the addition of YourDox on the GreenFolders platform, our users can improve customer service and security by providing their customers with convenient online access to their closing documents.”

“YourDox provides secure document delivery, file storage, and post closing marketing for the title and real estate industries, so our integration makes perfect sense” stated Peter Johnson, Vice President of Sales and Marketing of Pioneer Technology Group. “Now, GreenFolders users can take advantage of the long term security, storage, and marketing benefits of YourDox with just a few simple clicks.”

Users of GreenFolders Version 3.4 or greater will have access to YourDox.
